LOCAL ROTARY CLUB OBSERVES BI-CENTEN- NIAL OF WASHINGTON

Rev. C. C. Clark Pays Tribute to Great Man—Club Hears
Of Trip to Independence Hall—Timely Paper Read—
Protest to Removal Western Union Office From Bay

Observing the Bi-centennial year of the birth of George Washington, which is in line from January 1st on, Bay St. Louis Rotary Club on Wednesday, in regular meeting at the Oriole, celebrated the event in a most becoming and inspiring way.

The guest speaker of the day was Rev. C. C. Clark, pastor of the Main Street Methodist Church, who delivered the address on the life and achievements of Washington, telling as well of the most intimate side of Washington and revealing some of the innermost doings of the great man, thus showing his unselfishness, loyalty and above all the charitable man that Washington was. Rev. Clark's talk was replete with many of the things that apparently seemed to be less known generally, thus making his talk all the more of interest.

A handsome portrait of Washington, sent the county by Senator Pat Harrison, and loaned for the occasion by Clerk of the Courts A. G. Favre, hung on the wall for the occasion. And the American colors were displayed in a tasteful manner.

The major address of the day was preceded by a short talk from George R. Rea, who only last week visited Independence Hall and viewed the Liberty Bell and other relics of Washington's time.

Leo W. Seal read a timely reprint on conditions of the present time, that was clever in thought and construction, wise sayings and checked full of logic.

Miss Elsa Mauffray was pianist for the day and the Rotary songs were led by Song Leader Jas. A. Evans. An unusually splendid luncheon was served and the table and dining room decorated added to the atmosphere of the luncheon. A meeting of the Board of Directors followed and the club adjourned to meet next Wednesday at the Hotel Weston.

The matter of the intention of Western Union removing its public office from Bay St. Louis was called to the attention of the club and official action was taken asking the R. R. Commission to grant the permission of the company in its intention of closing the Bay St. Louis office.

Among the guests were noted Dr. A. R. Robertson and C. B. Rogers of Pass Christian; Dr. L. H. Horton, Commander Laurence Dickson, of Hancock County, American Legion Post; W. T. Jeffries, local attaché of Mississippi Power Company; Captain J. W. Peairs, Bay St. Louis.

Mother of Leo G. Ford
Passes Away At Home
In N. O. Sunday A. M.

Mrs. Annie Elizabeth Murphy, widow of the late Judge Thomas J. Ford, of New Orleans, and mother of Leo G. Ford, of Bay St. Louis, passed away at her home at 3339 Canal street, Sunday morning at 6:15 o'clock, native of New Orleans, aged 76, after a long siege of illness.

Mrs. Ford had been ailing for quite a while but recently her ailment became more aggravated as it progressed until she peacefully passed away, just as she had lived in the serenity of a long and useful life.

Mr. Ford was at the bedside of his mother when she passed away. In addition to this son she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joseph F. Seewus, and another son, Paul L. Ford, the latter two of Long Beach, Miss.

Mrs. Ford was the widow of Judge Thomas J. Ford, well known jurist of New Orleans for many years. The funeral took place Tuesday morning from the late residence and from the church of the Sacred Heart, interment in St. Patrick cemetery, No. 2.

The Ford family are well and prominently known and have the sympathy of many friends both in New Orleans and Mississippi Gulf Coast. The deceased, as well as her late distinguished husband, enjoyed a wide circle of friends and acquaintances and for the many years of their respective lives enjoyed the universal esteem of all who knew them.

THREE ONE ACT PLAYS TO BE GIVEN AT S. J. A. GYM.

"Gone Abroad," "The Red Parasol," and "The Happy Day"—Friday Jan. 29

The High School girls of S. J. A. have been working hard all week, putting the finishing touches on three one-act plays, which with the help of Mrs. Val Yates they will be ready to present on Friday, January 29 at 8:15 P. M., in the Memorial Hall.

The plays, the three of which are comedies are short, interesting, and full of fun. "Gone Abroad" will delight you with its freshness and as Faith expresses it, its "spanking breezes." In "The Red Parasol" the persistence of "the lady of color," the "Irishwoman" and the "twins" will surely make you smile if it doesn't ring from you a laugh. While in "The Happy Day" you will be charmed at the humor of the terrible predicament into which Mrs. Marlowe and Anne Loring are put by Mrs. Marlowe's Polly Fatlock.

The girls of S. J. A. believe it will be worth your while to come to the Memorial Hall Friday night. They promise to do their best to entertain you and they believe you will be satisfied with their efforts. The curtain will rise promptly at 8:15. Don't fail to come then, to the S. J. A. Memorial Hall on that date.

The entertainment is being given for the benefit of the gym debt fund. The small admission fee of 15c or 25 cents will be charged. Come each and everyone to the S. J. A. girls would like to see a great many of you there.

The cast of characters for the plays follows:
"GONE ABROAD"
Mrs. Nearly Grown, Miss Delta Lizana
Hope Faith, (her niece)
Miss Alice Camors, Miss Joyce Wolf
Mrs. I. P. Kinn, (her bosom friend)
Miss Theresa Linnam
"THE HAPPY DAY"
Mrs. Marlowe, middle aged and pretty
Miss Melodia Nix
Anne Loring, a neighbor
Miss Louise Carrere
Sybil Marlowe, the bride
Miss Genie Harper
Kitty Fern, a dressmaker
Miss Alma LeBlanc
Opal Neff, society reporter
Miss Ann Partridge
Mrs. Fatlock, a country relation
Miss V. Favolara
Polly Fatlock, her daughter
"THE RED PARASOL"
Dolly Trevor, in trouble over a parasol

Belinda, a servant
Miss Elise Lizana
Mrs. Amanda Regina Johnson, a lady of color
Miss C. Scalfide
Mrs. Mary McBride, a Irish woman
Ruby and Pearl, the twins
Miss P. Kidd, Miss A. M. Quintini.

Had Long Practice
Irate Parent—When that young cub who's paying you attention comes here again I'll set on him.
Daughter—Oh, let me do it, father—Exchange.

Petite's Rule
"My wife told me," demand a rise of salary from you."
"She did, eh? Well, I'll ask my wife if I can give it to you."—Judge.

BLUE JAYS VISIT RED STICKERS

Students of St. Joseph Academy Win Over St. Joseph At Baton Rouge—The Trip.

(BY A MEMBER OF THE PARTY)
One after the other they filed out of the school yard Friday at noon, the five cars bearing the two happy teams who were headed for Baton Rouge. Even the weather could not put down the spirit of the Jays who were bound to have a good time in spite of the rain.

On Saturday morning the Jays, escorted by the Red Stickers visited the "Constitution" which had docked that day at the Capital City. The afternoon was agreeably spent at a moving picture show. Sunday morning brought the great thrill to those of the Jays who had longed so ardently for it—a short flight in an airplane. Dinner came all too soon and before they knew it the Jays were again ensconced in their fine machines, one the way back home.

Thus ended the great event of the year for the teams of S. J. A.—that wonderful trip to the Capital City—an event which the hospitality and sportsmanship of the Baton Rouge girls has already made a proverbial yearly "red letter day" for the Jays.

Jays Extend Thanks to the Kind Friends Who Provided Them

Without the generosity of the five kind friends who allowed the Jays to use their cars, the trip to Baton Rouge could never have been realized. S. J. A. teams are therefore deeply grateful to those who so wholeheartedly came to their help namely: Rev. Father Leo J. Cahoy, Miss Stella Kenney, Miss Mary Perkins, Mr. Scalfide and Mrs. Murtagh and Alice Camors. To each and every one individually the Jays say "Thank You."

Jays Win Both Games in Baton Rouge
The Little Red Jays started the ball-rolling—and did they surprise us! They seemed literally bound to go to town, ending the first half with an eleven point lead. The Junior Red Stickers made a splendid comeback almost keeping the Jays from scoring at all during the second half, but in spite of the Red Stickers' heroic fight the last whistle found the Red Jays still two points ahead, the final score being 18-16.

Gold Jays Down Red Stickers.
Considering the victory of their little sisters as a good omen, the Gold Jays began their game determined to obtain the same result. The Red Stickers, meanwhile also fought with a spirit, that at first argued well for one and at last for the other. The score was a tie 10-10, at the end of the first half.

The Jays were thoroughly warmed up now, and the second and third quarters proved more successful for them. Nic St. Angelo and Catherine Scalfide kept the stars forward for Baton Rouge—Laura Fournier and Anna Wolfe from ringing more than four goals, while Perre and Camors added 21 points to the Jays' score during the second half, making the final score 31-18 in Bay St. Louis' favor.

BOGALUSANS PLAN TRUCKING SURVEY AT MOULTRIE, FLA.

Local Truck Farmers Might Take Tip From Experiment.

Twenty-five business men and truck growers of that section are expected to leave Bogalusa Thursday of this week for Moultrie, Fla., to file the study of truck farming. The progress that has been made in that vicinity has attracted national attention, said H. J. Cowgill, contractor, who made a special trip there last fall to make a personal investigation. He declares an even greater success can be made in Bogalusa along the same line.

The trip will be made in a motor bus, which has been chartered for the occasion.

Eleven Bouts of Boxing To Be Presented Here Monday, February 1.

With seats for everyone and prices at only 50 and 75 cents, there will be presented in this city on Monday night, 8 o'clock, at St. Stanislaus Gym a series of eleven bouts in scientific boxing. Kiln School versus St. Stanislaus College.

This presentation is made possible by the complete athletic department of the schools, where the many art of self-defense and athletic training is taught. Bay St. Louis public and that of the surrounding territory will learn of this announcement with more than ordinary interest and the college gym will be crowded to overflowing.

CITIZENS SHOULD PAY POLL TAXES IN ORDER TO VOTE 1932

Subject Is Important Since
Three Elections Will Be Held During Present
Year.

Failure to pay poll tax or to before February 1 will disfranchise the Bay St. Louis and Hancock county voter and consequently will be unable to vote in any of the elections that will take place this year.

There will be three major elections during 1932. First the primaries in August for State Highway Commissioners, and Congressmen, then the Presidential election in November. Last but by no means, least, there will be the Bay St. Louis city elections, which will take place some time in December.

The latter is vitally important. It strikes home and surely no man nor woman of this city will want to be counted out in December when the city election will take place. This is of direct interest to this article, simply a reminder, should appeal to one and all like interested in local government.

In addition to the foregoing, it is possible there will be one or more special elections to meet unforeseen emergencies or vacancies. Then it behooves every man and woman, good citizens and eligible to vote, to pay at least fifty per cent of their regular taxes on February 1 at latest and also their poll tax of $2.00. This will be the last day of the year to pay this particular tax.

CHAS. J. MITCHELL ELECTED PRESIDENT CITY SCHOOL BOARD

Suitable Resolutions Adopted
On Occasion of Loss of Donald Marshall's Service From Board.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marshall entertained on Friday evening the members of the School Board.

The guest list included, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ansley, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Toquet, Dr. and Mrs. A. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McDonald and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Ingram.

After an enjoyable contest and the presentation of humorous gifts to each member by Mr. Marshall, a delicious supper meal was served.

During a brief business session, Mr. Charles Mitchell was elected the new president of the Board, succeeding Mr. Marshall. The following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas the laws of Mississippi require that trustees must be a patron of the school, and
Whereas the said law has become operative relative to one of our members,

We the undersigned desire to express our regrets at the loss of Donald Marshall from the Bay St. Louis school board. We wish to commend him for his untiring efforts in behalf of the Schools of Bay St. Louis during his twelve years of service as board member, ten of which he has served as president of Board of Trustees.

We respectfully request that these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, a copy sent to the press and a copy presented to Donald Marshall in person.

(Signed)
S. L. TOQUET,
CHAS. J. MITCHELL,
LUTHER ANSLEY,
J. A. EVANS,
MRS. C. C. McDONALD.

Trustees.
In connection with the above the Echo wishes to add its tribute to the services Mr. Marshall has rendered the city and patrons of the schools as well as the students.

His experience and time has been of much worth and it is with keen regret we note, according with provision of law, it became necessary for him to resign since he was no more a patron. However, he has a worthy successor, both as president and as a member of the membership made vacant by his resignation. Mr. Marshall's splendid work for the city schools of several years will ever remain of value.

Program, Meeting of Baptist Woman's Missionary Society
The Woman's Baptist Missionary Society meeting, held a few days ago, was well attended and presided over by the president, Mrs. Speer.

An interesting program was rendered and proved of interest to all present, as follows:

Watchword—In Union, "He Shall Reign."
Discussion on Watchword, Rev. Allen, Hymn for Year—"Jesus Shall Reign."
Read by Mrs. Speer.
Prayer for Inspiration and Blessing from Watchword and Hymn—Mrs. James Sylvester.
Solo—"Jesus is Calling," Miss Evelyn Miller.
Talk on Personal Service—Mrs. Miller.
Talk on Organized Personal Service.
1. Mrs. Ethel Sanford.
2. Miss Ethel Sylvester.
3. Miss Gladys Speer.
4. Mrs. James Sylvester.
Organizing a Family Altar—Discussed by Rev. Allen, pastor.
Closing Hymn in Union.
Dismissal Prayer—Rev. Allen.

OPPOSED TO REMOVAL OF OFFICE

Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club Oppose Removal of Western Union
Office

At a specially-called meeting of Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, held Friday night, suitable resolutions were adopted and signed by the executive committee and addressed to the Mississippi State Railroad Commission, opposing the removal of the Western Union Telegraph office from Bay St. Louis.

At a meeting of the Bay Rotary Club, held Wednesday, the subject was discussed and on motion, duly seconded the following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, on the 27th, day of January 1932, there was held a meeting of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, at which time views were expressed on the application made to the Mississippi Commission at Jackson, relative to discontinuance of Western Union Tel. Co. Office in Bay St. Louis, Miss, and
"Whereas, it is the opinion of this organization that it would cause the Bay St. Louis and New Orleans visitors much inconvenience, and would otherwise be a detriment to Bay St. Louis to remove same,

"Now therefore be it resolved, that this body by this paper, express to the Mississippi Railroad Commission their disapproval of such a measure, and ask that they give this resolution consideration, and not allow the Western Union Office to be removed."

Contract For Clermont Harbor Pier To Be Built at Early Date

Clermont Harbor Civic Improvement Association recently opened sealed bids for the building of the proposed pier at the head of Bordages street, Clermont Harbor, when Messrs. Garcia & Carr, well-known local builders and contractors, residents of that place were awarded that contract, the work to begin as early as practicable.

It has long been considered a necessity for Clermont Harbor, as well as for other places along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, and it took the intelligent and concerted action of such a body of progressives as the Clermont Harbor Civic Association to get together and to evolve ways and means and finally to plan and have the work carried out.

The inclement weather has been a drawback to the progress of the work, but a representative of the firm of Garcia & Carr said that as soon as possible the work would be started. It is expected this improvement would give the value of real estate in that section quite an impetus, to say nothing of the big summer attraction it would prove as a factor in inviting visitors.

Clermont Harbor is one of the nearest summer resorts of the Gulf Coast to New Orleans, thus making for it a place of double attraction and durability.

Officers of the Clermont Harbor Improvement Civic Association are a set of fine and progressive men and their backing of the project insures its success. C. F. Jenkins is president and L. A. Maloney secretary.

Food Baskets in All Local Grocery Stores Are Helping the Needy

Wonderful work has been accomplished in helping the needy, and the people of our city are to be congratulated on the support they have given this movement.

The Food Package Shower given November 23rd, 1931 was a big success, because our people nobly and unselfishly contributed their packages. It was encouraging, for St. Margaret's Daughters were able to distribute 26 baskets of food on Nov. 24.

Since November 24th, 60 additional baskets of food have been distributed. This was made possible by the proceeds from the card parties given by The Little Club of Chevalier Givers and by results accomplished by placing baskets in the local grocery stores.

These baskets are placed in the grocery stores so that anyone at any time can place a package of food in them, and it is wonderful how liberally the people have patronized them.

The people of our city are charitable, and the baskets in the various stores gives them the opportunity to give. They buy their groceries and seeing the basket for the poor there, they figure they can help some poor person along so they purchase a package or two and put them in the basket.

By these acts of charity, kindness and unselfishness it has made it possible for St. Margaret's Daughters to help the needy at all time. Keep up the noble work, continue to put your little mite in these baskets and you will be blessed, for you are doing the will of God—"Feeding the Hungry."

LADIES' CIRCLE INSTALL

Mrs. Mae Tudury Guardian
Pine Grove Circle—Supper
Follows Ceremony.

A delightful occasion Monday evening was the installation of recently installed officers of Pine Grove Ladies' Woodmen's Circle, No. 167, of Bay St. Louis.

The installation took place at the regular monthly meeting and the attendance was notably large. Mrs. Abigail Bourgeois acted as installing officer and Julia Boudin as installing attendant. The officers were as follows: Past Guardian, Leontine Ziegler; Guardian, Mae Tudury; advisor Mae Colson; chaplain, M. L. Heitzman; banker, Adele Banderet; financial secretary, Lena Henry; attendant, Gladys Colson; inner Sentinel, Rosa Betz; outer sentinel, Elsa Boudin; auditors Julia Boudin, Anita Blaize and Clara Sherer; junior supervisor, Alma Quintini; Musician Edna Saucier; physician Dr. C. L. Horton.

After the business session the members attended the home of Mrs. Mae Tudury where a delicious supper of chicken was served for about 30 members. After refreshments Pine Grove Circle No. 167 presented the past Guardian Leontine Ziegler, with a little token of remembrance for her good service during the past year.

HART CHINN LEASES PLANT OF DUNBAR- DUKATE AT THE PASS

Biloxian to Take Over Plant
And Operate It On Full
Time In Season.

The Pass Christian plant of the Dunbar-Dukate Company, oyster and shrimp packers, will begin operations about February 1, according to an announcement by R. V. Abbley, local manager of the Dunbar-Dukate Co., given to the press.

The plant with all equipment has been leased for the oyster season to Hart Chinn of Biloxi, and will be operated under the supervision of Mr. Chinn. Besides equipment for the canning of sea-foods, an iceplant which supplies the city with ice, is also maintained, and will be operated in connection with the oyster canning.

Boats are being equipped with dredges for catching oysters and will go out to the reefs as soon as they are ready, and its expected that actual operations will begin about February 1.

The Dunbar-Dukate Company gives employment to a large number of families in Pass Christian. The factory has not been in operation for the past year.

AWARD OF $15,000 FOR LOSS OF LOVE UPHELD BY COURT

Mississippi Court Affirms
Judgment Against Pass
Christian Woman

Mrs. Dorothy Stanton of Pass Christian must pay Mrs. Rita Cox of Okmulgee, Okla., $15,000 for alienating the affections of Mrs. Cox's husband, who before each married had been Mrs. Stanton's suitor, the Mississippi Supreme court ruled Monday.

The court had to untangle a mass of testimony brought in the lower court trial which ended with an award of $50,000 for Mrs. Cox. On retrial the sum was cut to $30,000, and remittitur of $15,700 was ordered. This amount of damages was upheld by the court today.

The testimony reviewed by the high court showed that Mrs. Stanton, prior to her marriage to Stanton, well-known coast lawyer, had been engaged to Cox. When she married Stanton, Cox married also.

A number of years later the Stantons separated and Mrs. Stanton and Cox again became friendly. The voluminous testimony revealed considerable correspondence, several visits and a number of long-distance telephone calls.

Mrs. Stanton secured a divorce and later Mr. and Mrs. Cox were divorced, with the latter blaming it all on Mrs. Stanton.

Then Mrs. Stanton married a Mr. Campbell instead of Mr. Cox, and during the first alienation trial employed her former husband as attorney.

Film of Rose Bowl Game to Be Shown Next Thursday Here

Admirers of two home boys, Glover and Scalfide, and lovers of the football sport, including those who were unable to take the trip to Pasadena New Year's Day, will have the opportunity of witnessing the full play as filmed for the movies. Showing detail play and slow movement exhibition of features.

The A. & G. Theater announces that on Thursday night of next week this film of the Rosebowl game will be shown in Bay St. Louis, and at no advance in prices.

TOO MUCH STOCK.

THE SEA COAST ECHO favors honest big business but does not incline to an admiration of watered stock, unfair rates, and protected monopolies that are unregulated.

The fact that many large corporations issued stock bonuses in the days of boom has caused heavy declines in the value of their stocks today. Instead of laying up surplus money for a rainy day the managers of the companies capitalized abnormal profits to their full extent. When profits became normal, the companies were unable to pay reasonable dividends upon the stock and down it crashed.

The people who "foolishly" bought this stock stand the loss, but back of the transactions is the great public, affected by the fact that such losses assist in creating depression, during which the innocent suffer with the guilty. For such reasons there seems to be occasion to study the possibility of regulating the amount of stock that any corporation can issue.

If this means putting the government in business then that is what it means. It may be bad, but certainly it is no worse than what has happened in the past few years.

FOR SAFER DRIVING.

A GULFPORT newspaper publishes a letter "From the People," headed "Plea for Safer Driving." This is a reflection on the administrative powers of each and every community to whom this may be applied and more directly to the police. There are too many lunatics driving automobiles today. They run through towns and cities as well, with no regard for the rights of others or safety of their own car or occupants. Too many children, not of age, are violating city ordinances daily, driving the family automobile. These matters result in serious culmination and it might be better to have more authoritative enforcement of the law and more police activity than letters from the people to the press, asking for safer driving.

The automobile, it is said, has been the medium of more fatality than any other agency. Total figures for the year are appalling. People simply gasp; fail to catch the full significance and can do nothing else but momentarily lament and then pass it up.

It is not only the automobile the cause. It might be the instrument. But it is the feather-brained boy or girl or the adult lunatic who is driving without thought. Arrest him!

ULTIMATELY MORE TAXES.

A PRESS TELEGRAM from Jackson brings the apprehensive tidings that "Flood cuts revenue from gasoline tax," and in the text of the article we are informed that "gasoline dealers are buying only in smallest amounts while waiting to see what will be the outcome in the Legislature of bills connected with their industry."

While flood conditions in north Mississippi and the lower delta are cutting the sales of gasoline and thus lowering the gas tax revenue for the State, the bootlegging of gasoline into Mississippi is another factor not to be lost sight of. Then there is the sales tax dodger, who purchases either over on the Louisiana or Alabama line, where gas is possibly cheaper, including tax.

As to the legislature and awaiting the outcome of what it is going to do, that is clear. Dear reader, in your mind, while reading these lines you have already given the answer, which is, more taxes!

PROBLEMS OF 1932.

INDIVIDUALS, facing 1932, should remember that times have been worst, and that they have always improved.

The problems now is not how to live but how to get over a bad period in life's journey. In extreme cases it may mean the same thing. However, there should not be such extreme cases in Bay St. Louis without receiving proper attention.

For the rest of the year we should proceed along normal lines, if possible. There should be no foolish extravagances, nor, on the other hand, absurd economies. The one is as bad as the other.

Obviously, it is impossible for general advice to fit every case. Each reader of this article knows his or her problem, and can figure out a proper balance between wise spending and silly saving.

Our nextdoor neighbors, Clermont Harbor, are to be congratulated over the fact of an accomplishment at hand. These progressive and far-seeing residents, property owners and others have organized and already as a potentiality of their plan they have let the contract for a recreation pier and the work is about to begin. Our friends do not talk about their improvements. They accomplish them first, then—let other people talk about them.

All eyes are turned to New Orleans. Mardi Gras is approaching with February 9 only a short while off and all roads from several states will lead to that gay Mecca of the Carnival. Other cities and nearby towns will have their Carnival City, but like Venice and Nice of old, none other will compare with New Orleans. It is the Carnival City of America and such spirit as enters into the celebration exists in none other places. We hail February 9; our footsteps are turned to New Orleans.

POST AND AUXILIARY FOR HANCOCK COUNTY.

ACTIVITY for Hancock County Legion Post is noteworthy. On every side, in every endeavor, civic and general projects we find the Legion Post at work, sponsoring some cause, assisting in others and always willing to be of service. This without stipend or self aggrandizement, but purely patriotic.

Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club indeed take an active part in the community's affairs but in some unacquainted minds we fear there is a wrong impression, associating the Post only with the sight of flags, parades and general fanfare.

But this is not the case nor the exception. On the contrary, we find the Hancock Post, like elsewhere, ever ready to do, drawing the line at no place, neither discriminating nor lax at any time.

In Hancock county the Legion Post is responsible and sponsors the Boy Scout troops, and in this a long-felt want has been filled. Protecting the lives of children by placing caution signs at various points of ingress and egress. It would indeed be a long list were the Echo to prepare a statement of the activities of the local Post. Only recently, a few days ago, it readily responded to the cry of the distress in the flooded areas of north Mississippi, sending boats and men to operate them.

In addition, it would not only be ungallant, but an inexcusable omission failing to refer to the recent inauguration of the Auxiliary, an organization of the gentler minds, composed of the lady folk of the Post, who, too, have already made their impress on the community in the field of assisting and engaging in tender ministrations in addition to doing their share for the city and county as well from civic standpoint.

Clermont R. Bontemps Legion Post is an asset to Hancock county. It should not only be supported, but fostered and given proper and full recognition on every and all occasions.

THE CAMELLIA AND GULF COAST.

MOBILE might be known, in addition to other things for the growing of azalea plants which blossom every spring in abundant profusion and gorgeous color, but the Mississippi Gulf Coast has its camellia or japonica with which nothing may compare. The exquisite loveliness, delicate texture of petal and compelling beauty is incomparable. Nothing vies with the camellia, whether it be white, rose-colored or variegated. It is generally found in the old-time garden, surrounding some mansion where in the old days the aristocracy of the South abided. It is not an overnight shoot, neither is it a fad or passing fancy to the flower lover, but, like the rose, one of God's handiworks that survives and will ever find lodgment in the sense of admiration.

Bay St. Louis is not without its many beautiful camellia plants. Better, perhaps, to say trees. These, we have evidence, have survived in one place, we know whereof we speak, over eighty years. Then in the interior of the county, in the vicinity of Kiln and Fenton, and over in DeLisle, trees of the kind are known to exist over fifty years.

In Bay St. Louis the white camellia on the premises of Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Horton is known to be near the century mark. This is the rare specie of white, immaculately so. Then there are others in colors and variegated hue, for instance the one on the premises of Mrs. P. Pem Davis in Carroll avenue, others on the former E. H. Hoffmann place, R. N. Blaize on the beach and down quite a number. The writer remembers when camellia blossoms from the Horton tree years ago sold at twenty-five cents each; others at 10 cents. We are delighted with the camellia and its undying beauty that caters to the aesthetic taste. This is one of the many assets of beauty for which the Gulf Coast is worthily favored.

NEW ERA DAWNING FOR GULFPORT.

IT IS GRATIFYING to learn that the bank of Gulfport, recently voluntarily closed, is preparing to reopen and that all things necessary, in accordance with the prescribed fitness of things, and wisdom and effort that will inspire further confidence, are being done in order to accelerate the move. This is tidings of a substantial character, not only to the immediate section in which Gulfport is located, but for the moral effect resulting.

Gulfport banks and bank have been the victim of an unfortunate era, that of the boom following Florida's. Inflated values were accepted as stable values, and served as the accepted basis of every transaction. Finally the overtopping of the superstructure could no longer withstand conditions and demand. The collapse was bound to come, however, sooner than ordinarily. The Florida storm presaged another storm for that state and it subsequently followed.

The Gulf Coast then was at the height of its own boom, just about this time. How long it lasted is only known too well. And ever since we have suffered the result.

While the experience is a dear one, it has taught that section of the coast possibly a valuable lesson. We of this end of the coast played only a minor role in the boom. It came here practically on the wane. Hence we were hardly affected when the collapse came.

That Rotary Intercity meeting held the other night at Biloxi was a splendid exemplification of that get-together spirit which in turn means so much both for resident and community. The success of this meet has been referred to over and again what unity and get-together will accomplish. Here we had an assembly of hundreds of men from the ranks of the best, representing New Orleans, Mobile, and as far northward as Hattiesburg, including the entire Gulf coast cities, seven Rotary Clubs along the coast alone being represented. Our hat is doffed to Biloxi for its splendid spirit and hospitality and to the Rotarians who made it so.

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS

By Chicagoan

A Review of the News of Last Week's Echo.

CHICAGO, ILL., January 26.—Before 1932 was fully a month old, it demonstrated its worth to Mr. and Mrs. Lucien M. Gex, when it added to their family circle sweet Patricia Ann whose arrival was so joyously heralded in the Echo last week. As the years roll by, and roll by they will, the fond parents will realize more and more what a priceless possession the year has brought them. In 1950, these depression days may still be remembered by some, but Mr. and Mrs. Gex will recall 1932 as the year that made them rich by bringing to them a new interest and giving them something more to live for.

When the school year ends, Miss Laurin Gex of Gulf Park College and Miss Norma Gex of University of Mississippi plan to put not only class rooms behind them, but the familiar scenes of the Gulf Coast as well. They'll probably write to their friends and tell of schools in foreign lands, for they may intend to devote themselves to study as well as to the pleasures of travel. Anyway, when summer comes they'll be off for Europe, says the Echo, and that will be their big adventure for 1932. May good luck attend them, and may their travels in the Continent be a bright spot in their lives, the memories of which will last for many years.

And when the Misses Gex return to their home, they will experience the same pleasant sensations as did Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Siler when they returned from their stay in New Orleans to their home on Waveland Beach boulevard. Reading of this event in the Echo, one is again reminded that the pleasure of returning home is equalled by the many friends of the absentees who have been awaiting that return.

By visiting the schools of Long Beach, Gulfport and Biloxi Supt. Ingram, Mr. Mitchell and Mrs. McDonald were doing what so many other devoted educators are doing in all parts of the country, not depending on their own resources alone, but learning from the experience of others many things that make for advancement of the institutions under their charge.

In northern climes people often watch for the groundhog this time of the year, for his appearance is supposed to have some effect on the duration of the winter. But what care the people of Bay St. Louis for the groundhog? Especially those who will be entertained by the Women's Benefit Association at their card party on January 27. But then, I suppose there is a shadow at those parties too, and that the players with low scores are convinced that trumps, like prosperity and the groundhog, are hibernating in a hole somewhere.

When one reflects that the members of the Bay St. Louis American Legion Post, headed by Commander Laurent Dickson, have their own individual problems the same as all other people, one can better appreciate the extent of their service when they make such efforts for the general good as they did last week, when they assembled and shipped eight power boats to Sumner, Miss., for the use of flood sufferers. Not only were the boats sent, but four volunteer boatmen, Wm. Watts, Harold Netto, Edward Nathan, and Malcolm Cowan accompanied the fleet to add to the good work the people of Bay St. Louis are doing for others.

In these days of depleted public treasures all sorts of schemes are advanced as means of taxation. Sound public policy would seem to dictate that public expense be first reduced to a minimum and then the necessary taxes levied upon those best able to pay. But, sad though it is, legislators, national and state seem not enough concerned about the first and very little about the second. There seems to be a concerted effort being made to collect taxes from the ordinary people, but to disguise them in some form or other.

In last week's Echo, Editor Moreau renders yeoman service to his county and state by stripping the disguise from the sales tax now under consideration in Mississippi. No one reading last week's editorial on this subject could fail to see this proposition revealed in all its nakedness. It was devoid of all redeeming features, says Mr. Moreau in the editorial which continues, "A general sales tax is unsound in every sense. It will impose unfairly upon the poor who should not be made to pay tax for the bread which keeps them alive and the clothes which cover their nakedness."

It will be due to the efforts of such public spirited and far-seeing men of Mississippi as Bay St. Louis is fortunate in having at the helm of its newspaper that legislators will exercise considerable caution before burdening the state with any of these new forms of taxation.

Students and Others, Might Try Their Hand At Unusual Essay.

By JOHN T. MEYERS
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

EACH week in the space linking this item there appears a full-length column entitled "Views of Our News," whose author uses the pseudonym "By Chicagoan" to cloak his real identity. This far-distant writer comments and philosophizes with masterful sympathetic understanding on the real life drama of Bay St. Louis-Waveland regions as presented to him from the printed pages of the Sea Coast Echo.

Through his "Views of Our News" column Chicagoan has come to know intimately the joys and sorrows, likewise the ambitions and ideals of the many Echo readers. In happy hours the ready words of praise from the pen of this writer have brought added rays of happiness and encouragement into the hearts and lives of many individuals and groups, whose activities he has glorified in his column.

And when sorrow and despair settle over the hearts of his Echo reader friends Chicagoan is closer—much closer—in his tender understanding of their emotions than the many bridging miles separating Chicago from Bay St. Louis would suggest. It is on such occasions that Chicagoan proves his unusual ability to fathom the innermost depths of the thoughts and deeds of his beloved fellowmen.

In return the wide circle of Echo readers have formed an unbreakable bond of appreciation for the delightful and inspiring bits of comment on local topics so entertainingly and cleverly written by Chicagoan. His column has long been a subject of conversation when the home folks meet in social and business gatherings. It is, in a sense, a criterion of the way Bay St. Louis appears on review away up yonder in Chicago. And we all like to know what the other fellow thinks of us. That is a human trait.

But what about this writer? Mr. Chicagoan? Who can give the nearest, correct imaginary picture of him? Surely his large reader following have oftentimes wondered about him. Just as he once remarked that he had formed a mental picture about a lot of you, so in turn you must have tried to draw conclusions from his writings concerning his physical appearance.

It would be a lot of fun to sit down tonight after reading "Views of Our News" column and see how near you can come to describing Chicagoan. Is he tall... short... slender... stout? What is his hobby? Does he wear glasses? There are many questions that one might ask about him. He may be a young man, or perhaps advanced in years.

When you have finished your written description, mail or bring the results to the Echo. It will be very thrilling, I am sure, for Chicagoan to read your opinion of his personal appearance. All set—now, let's go hunt up the pen and ink—pencil will do... the reader of "Views of Our News" have turned writers... Who will be the nearest correct? That is a question for Chicagoan to decide.

TOBACCO NUISANCE TAXES

(Editorial From N. O. Times-Picayune, Jan. 26, 1932.)

DISCUSSING the outlook for tax legislation in Mississippi the other day, the Bay St. Louis Echo made this reference to the nuisance taxes on tobacco, now again, we understand, under consideration by the Mississippi Legislature: "Here in Bay St. Louis and other Coast points we experience the condition of people buying cigarettes, cigars and other state-taxed commodities from nearby states where such taxes have been repealed after finding what monumental failure has resulted." Our Coast contemporary filed general protest against tax levies which "will drive to other states business which must be kept in Mississippi." The tobacco nuisance taxes were cited as illustration and demonstration of that contention's truth.

The experience of the Mississippi coast cities, where people are buying cigars and cigarettes from nearby states to avoid the bitterly resented nuisance tax imposition thereon, has been shared, we dare say, by every state which has tried this nuisance levy. Louisiana tried and discarded it, as other commonwealths have done. Invariably its yield has fallen far below the claims and estimates of its advocates, and its collection cost has run, in the words of a Mississippi Tax Commission chairman, "much higher than should be paid for the collection of a tax."

Despite its unfavorable "service record" and its manifest unpopularity, the tobacco nuisance levy continues to find advocates. We are no more surprised by the news that it is under consideration again by Mississippi's Legislature than by the protests that are pouring in against it. "Mississippi is trying the imposition now. Its present levy is yielding only a fraction of the revenue anticipated while driving business, as the Bay St. Louis Echo testifies, to nearby states which have abandoned such taxation after "finding what monumental failure has resulted." Governor Roosevelt of New York, which state is confronted also by a huge deficit, is quoted as emphatically rejecting a nuisance-tax program on the ground that "they are poorly adapted to state use," that "the cost of collection would be disproportionate to the revenue received" and that "they bear relatively far more heavily upon the poor than upon the rich." The New York governor's conclusion is confirmed by the experiences of a number of states with the tobacco nuisance tax. It should be studied carefully, and tested against the experienced records easily available, by Mississippi's lawgivers.

HONUS CRAIG'S CHATS WITH BOYS.

Famous Staff Writer Nashville Banner Pays Tribute to the Fine Qualities of Marchmont Schwartz, Bay St. Louisian.

Honus Craig's daily column in the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner, appearing on the editorial page, is as much sought for and read as any feature in any newspaper could be. His "chats" with boys are all-revealing, inspiring. It has been said of this columnist that to read one of his "chats" might be better than a sermon, better than a book, better than a lecture.

Here it is:

This "Chat With Boys," is to be about a letter and a code of signals, which I will call it, that the readers of this column received from the greatest left-halfback in the world today. It is from Marchmont Schwartz, All-American left-halfback for the year 1931 of the University of Notre Dame.

It occurred to me, since the All-American team was selected, that every boy in America would love to be a member of that famous team consisting of eleven nationally famous young men. For my own part, I think for a good many reasons, that I had rather have that honor than any other honor America could bestow on me today. That's saying a mouthful.

And since Marchmont Schwartz donates to this column his ideas of what code of signals should be employed by boys in order to make the All-American team, or its equivalent expressed in splendid young manhood, it also occurred to me that it might be well for us to go into a huddle and talk over the plays implied by his signals and see if we are on the right road to make the team.

So pull off your helmets for a moment. Now flap your ears forward and listen—for the men who make good football players have ears, good ears, and they use them. I am going to give you the slogan adopted by the greatest left-halfback in America. Here are some of his very words: "Every boy who aspires to be an athlete should adopt the slogan: Pep, Enthusiasm, Perseverance and should be noble in victory, gracious in defeat, and at all times a gentleman."

How He Plays.

This is not all of his code, by any means. But if you will use the old bean and employ this part of his slogan alone, you will make the kind of football player to which all of America will take off its hat. And I am not guessing. "Pep," enthusiasm, perseverance, and grace in defeat, and at all times a gentleman." Schwartz has said that those ingredients when he started out around the end. You may not have seen him play, but didn't you hear the radio announcer's voice crack and break and shiver and shake when it arose to a shrill, screaming, falsetto, "Schwartz has the ball! He's going around right end. No, there's a wall in his way! He can't make it! Wait! He's cutting back! He's cutting back! He's taking a hole! The defense is swarming up! Two men have him! He's down! No, no, no, wait! He's turning and twisting and wriggling! Look! Look! He's clear! He's clear! He's away! He's away! Five yards ten yards! Ten more men are in the yard! Ten men! A hundred! A thousand! The field is full of them! He's straight-armed! He's side-stepping! Another! Now he's zigzagging back! Three more men are blocking him! He's down—but wait! He's fighting! He's fighting again! He's about to get clear! He's back! He's away! He's away! The white lines are running under him like a cyclone. Five! Ten! Fifteen! Twenty! Twenty-five! Thirty! Only one more man between him and the goal! He's crouching for the tackle! He's kicking! He's kicking! He's kicking! Wait! Schwartz, straight-armed, side-stepping, he's twisting back! He's away again! Away—thirty-five! Forty! He's almost over! Touchdown! Touchdown! What a man! What a man!

"Pep. Enthusiasm. Perseverance." That's what did it. And Schwartz, the greatest left-halfback of them all, will probably never play another game of football. But he's learned a lesson on the football field that he has tucked away in his vest pocket. And you can't take it away from him. And when life faces him with her stubborn, formidable menace he will laugh at it—Chuckle with the self assurance of the conqueror. And he will straighten it; side-step its pitfalls; out race it; defy its worst. And at times life will throw him. But he will get up grinning. And he will tell him: "Lift! Lift! Must be a pretty good man to be able to do that. Lift him another fall." And remember, he's got the old vest pocket crammed full of the stuff it takes. Pep, perseverance, enthusiasm, make you no mistake. And he got it on the same kind of gridiron you are working on.

Hey there! This is skull practice. Did you get all the Schwartz's code? He's got a lot tucked away in his vest pocket, for it takes a lot to make the All-American football team. He also says, "be noble in victory, gracious in defeat and at all times a gentleman."

Noble in Victory

Now I want to tell you that Marchmont Schwartz is demonstrating the fact that he is noble in victory. And I'll prove it. I asked him in my letter if he wouldn't tell the boy readers of this column what he thought it took to make a good football player. And I claim that he and that All-American team have earned the greatest victory of them all. And did he swell around like a lot of jacksasses you know who have "got all stuck on themselves," over some trifling victory? I answer you, he did not. And he didn't know, from a tiny little peanut in Georgia. And I wasn't able to offer him money for the services. All he knew was the fact that perhaps he might share his victory because all boys want to make good players of any kind of game. His letter to me follows:

"My Dear Mr. Craig: Am preparing for my law examinations, nevertheless took time out long enough to write a few lines which I hope shall give someone the incentive to 'go ahead.' You are in a position to do much good and I know you enjoy your work.

Cordially,

MARCHMONT SCHWARTZ.

And if that letter indicates anything but graciousness in defeat I'll advise the family cow for sale. Schwartz has been playing on a team that has been admittedly the best in America for years—Notre Dame. Why, that very name in footballdom was enough to make gray shivers run up and down a football player's spine. And this year that almost unbeatable team has been taken twice for a ride. And did Schwartz, I ask you, the simple question, go around sulking and making a lot of assinine excuses and display every tendency in the world but graciousness because the team was beaten? If that letter of his isn't gracious and thoughtful and sportsmanlike I'll twist the tail of my little girl's cat until it squeals. And that's dangerous "doins." I'll venture to say that the whole team took its medicine graciously.

And don't miss this. Schwartz says that to make a good football player one must be at all times a gentleman. Had you ever thought about the fact that each football player is like a gold fish in a bowl? The spectators at the game can see every move he makes while he is playing. And don't for a moment think that that coterie of football experts headed by Grantland Rice would pick a man for the All-American football team who had ever to their knowledge been guilty of ungentlemanly conduct on the field. And if the stern measuring stick has even been assiduously applied to a man's character, a competitive football game is an occasion where that merciless, crucial test is always applied. For if there was ever a time in a boy's or man's life where the temptation to be guilty of unsportsmanlike conduct is at its greatest, it is when a player is undergoing the mental and physical stress of terrifically sternly competitive action. There, if a player has a rotten, yellow streak in him the veneer of a sportsman and a gentleman is quickly dissipated, and all the vicious and unsportsmanlike qualities in him stand out as unpretty and disgusting as a slimy water dog. And I claim that the word gentleman and sportsman are synonymous terms.

Bit of "Dope."

With your permission, I want to give you one more bit of the most excellent "dope" in the world from Marchmont Schwartz's code. I'll quote it and later give the whole code. "Invincibility in any endeavor or is harmful and occasional defeat, especially when one is trying their hardest does, in the long run, prove most beneficial." Now that's a full charge in the middle from a howitzer. Just suppose we did our own sweet little ways in everything we attempted? Why, if some good player didn't cut the other good football player down and sit on his nose seeing a game he would get so rotten that the buzzards would have indignation if they didn't sail on by. A good athlete is a good athlete because he knows he is not invincible. That there is one just as good grinning around the corner. Defeat makes "Pep, enthusiasm, perseverance." And if it is accepted like a man, it makes character. Think it over.

Schwartz's code as he gave it to us follows: "Every boy who aspires to be an athlete should adopt the slogan: Pep, enthusiasm, perseverance, and should be noble in victory, gracious in defeat and at all times a gentleman. Invincibility in any endeavor is harmful and an occasional defeat, especially when one is trying their hardest does, in the long run, prove most beneficial. Many youngsters start football at too early an age and by the time they enter college they are literally 'burnt out.'"

There are many of us not fitted physically for the strenuous task that football exacts but this should not discourage us mentally. There are many games like tennis, handball, baseball, basketball, golf and the like which teach the same lessons that the gridiron does.

"Regardless of the sport we choose, may I suggest that we go into the game with a determination to make good, to derive as much benefit, mentally and physically as possible, keeping in mind always that unselfish effort and intelligence are basic characteristics of achievement. Do the little things well and when the big moments come we will be ready."

We wish to thank Marchmont Schwartz, member of the All-American football team, greatest left-halfback in the world, through the medium of this column. We congratulate him for the fortune that is tucked away in his vest pocket. He is ready. And we wish him glorious success when he gets out on the intriguing gridiron of life.

Many New Firms Enter Nursery Business

The State Plant Board reports that 168 new nursery firms began business in Mississippi during 1931. This is attributed partly to the low price of cotton, and is the largest number of new nurseries ever certified in one year. The Board states that all nurseries are inspected two or more times each year in order to protect the public from the sale of insects pests and diseases. A list of the Mississippi Certified Nurseries will be sent to anyone requesting it from the State Plant Board at A. & M. College.

HOW ONE MAN LOST 22 POUNDS

Mr. Herman, Runkle of Detroit writes: "A few lines of thanks from a rheumatism sufferer—my first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all the aches and swellings out of my joints. With my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now I feel like a new man." To lose fat SAFELY and quickly take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle at any drugstore in the world and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied, your money will be refunded. All good druggists will be glad to supply you.

JAMES DUNN AND SALLY EILERS STAR IN PLEASING DRAMA

Potential Favorites To Appear in Newest Hit, "Dance Team," at A. & G.

Classed by many critics as the "wonder team of the year," a class following their remarkably human characterizations in "Bad Girl" and "Over the Hill," James Dunn and Sally Eilers make their third screen appearance together in the leading roles of "Dance Team," the Fox Film version of Frank Addington's popular novel, which will be the feature attraction at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday.

Few film players in recent years have leaped to fame so meteorically as have these two youngsters. To find a suitable parallel one must go back to the silent days when Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell rose overnight from utter obscurity to the heights of fame in their first teaming picture, "7th Heaven." And strange as it may seem, it was the same director who directed Janet and Charlie in their first picture, Frank Borzage, who directed the photoplay that lifted Sally and Jimmy to stardom.

Previous to the filming of "Bad Girl," Miss Eilers was just a pleasing and capable ingenue in New York for the specific part of the good son in "Over the Hill." Quite by chance they came under the keen eye of Borzage just as did Gaynor and Farrell, several years before, and as is so often the case history repeated itself.

In their new picture, "Dance Team," Dunn and Miss Eilers are said to have the same type roles as they had in their previous success, the human flesh and blood boy and girl whom you would meet in the ordinary walks of life. And like ever so many other youngsters they are fired with the ambitions of youth, which carry them through a series of disappointments and discouragements to success as a dancing team. All but success comes from the problems, problems of the heart, of riches and of vanity, all of which add to the humanness and drama of the film.

Big Finance Corporation Becomes a Reality

The government's two-billion dollar credit corporation, designed to strengthen American business and public confidence in it, became a reality Friday when President Hoover signed the construction finance corporation bill.

This is the most important piece of legislation passed by this Congress. It had non-partisan support in both houses. The idea it incorporates is sound. The creation of this corporation was needed and is timely.

It should not, in the long run, cost the taxpayers a dollar. It should on the other hand, save many sound businesses and thereby speed industrial and economic recovery. All that it needs is conservative yet courageous unbiased and non-partisan administration. The manner in which its directors are chosen tends to assure this.

President Hoover's selection of Charles G. Dawes as president of the new corporation will be generally approved. So will the placing of Harvey C. Couch, of Arkansas, on the directorate. Mr. Couch's nomination has not been announced as we write but is regarded as a certainty.

This new corporation has nothing in common with some of the others with which the government has had sad experience. Its functions, for instance, will not be akin to the Farm Board's vain and costly efforts to "stabilize" the price of wheat by trading in it. Its purpose is to provide needed credit for businesses proved to be sound and soundly administered, to enable banks, including land banks, to extend or increase sound loans to meet the present situation.

We hope the immediate and eventual results will justify the faith and optimism with which the measure was passed and with which it is welcomed by leaders in all sections.

COMMENT ON SPORTS BY SHERIDAN

BASEBALL HOLD-OUTS SCHEMELING'S CROWN. SHARKEY GETS CHANCE BASEBALL LEADS WALKER CUP PLAY LOUGHNAN GOES DOWN.

This is the season when baseball news is concerned with "holdouts" but there is little use in trying to keep up with the boys. Most of them will be in line when play begins. Meanwhile, sporting columns are filled with reminiscences or opinions that have been collected on almost every subject.

One real piece of news is the inclination of the National Boxing Association to vacate the heavyweight crown because Schmeling did not defend it or sign up to defend his title within six months. Voting now underway will be completed about the middle of February, at which time Gene John V. Clinch, president of the N. B. A., will announce the result of the ballot. Well, this is wasting time as far as the public is concerned. Max is the champion, as far as Mr. Fan goes, and will be until somebody trumps him to the canvas.

Evidence is that Jack Sharkey will have the first chance to do this very thing. When the public failed to get pepped up over the chances of Mickey Walker to beat the Texan, the adroit managers figured that maybe the Boston Gob could interest the fans. Maybe he can. Anyway, lost of people believe that Jack would have cleaned up Max in their fight if it were not for the foul and arguments of this kind are what create interest in fights.

The Associated Press tells us, after a poll that baseball is still No. 1 in popularity with American fans, with football a close second, golf, boxing fourth. The growth of golf and the decline of boxing is notable as is the popularity of football, a short-season game.

The Walker Cup match, first played in 1922, is all set for 1932, following a period of doubt as the British golfers waited for an invitation, which, it seems, America considered unnecessary inasmuch as the match is played on a two-year basis, alternating with the two countries. Francis Ouimet is already named captain of the American team, but the date and place remain uncertain. Of the six matches played in 1922, '23, '24, '26, '28 and '30 the American team has been triumphant every time.

Tommy Loughnan, gallant veteran, has reached it, appears, the end of the trail. Steve Hannas knocked him out in the second round of a scheduled ten round battle. The end for Loughnan was forecast when Levinsky, of the second round, knocked Loughnan suffered the second knock-out of his long career. He had nothing but a fighting heart with which to stem the attack of a youthful and fighting foe.

Orchard Clean-Up Advised.

Owners of peach, pecan, and other orchards trees are being advised by the State Plant Board that their trees should be gone over carefully, and all dead or dying wood removed. According to the Board, this dead material serves to attract bark beetles, borers, and other pests to the orchard, often resulting in serious damage to healthy trees. Many insects also pass the winter on these dead and dying twigs, making it doubly important to remove and burn them before the warm weather of spring.

RUN-DOWN and WEAK

"I began taking Cardui when in a weakened, run-down condition," writes Mrs. F. S. Peritt, of Wesson, Miss. "I took one bottle, and I seemed to improve so much that I sent for six bottles. After I had taken the six bottles, I seemed entirely well."

"Before I took Cardui, I was nervous, restless, blue and out of heart. I felt depressed all the time. After I took Cardui, all this disappeared."

"I gave my daughter Cardui and it helped to relieve irregular..."

This medicine has been used by women for over 50 years.

Take Cardui for Constipation, Indigestion, and Biliousness.

CREAMERY PLANT CONTRACT AWARDED TO JACKSON FIRM

Ness Creameries of Biloxi To Build $36,000 Structure to Serve Public.

W. C. Stout and Son of Jackson have been awarded the general contract for the construction of the one and two-story reinforced concrete, brick and steel building for the Ness Creameries, of Biloxi, at a cost of $36,000, work upon which is expected to begin within the near future. The announcement of the award was made by Hirsch & Watson, architects, of St. Louis, for the Pet Milk Company, the associate architect. The new building will occupy a space of 50 by 100 and will be equipped with modern machinery for ice cream and dairy manufacture. Clifton Cox is the local manager of the Ness Creameries, which is affiliated with the Blue Ribbon Creameries of Jackson and the Pet Milk Company of St. Louis.

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

Often we forget dried fruits nicely prepared may be used in similar ways to fresh fruits. The fruit must be washed until clean. This is best accomplished by scalding the fruit, pouring off the water, adding warm water and then rubbing the fruit well between the hands. A final rinsing and the clean fruit may be used to cook. The following recipes are attractive ways of serving dried fruit.

Dried Apple Pie
2 1/2 cups cooked dried apples
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1/4 teaspoon spice.
Line pie plate with pastry, add apple mixture with sugar and spice. Dot with butter, cover with top crust. Bake thirty minutes at 450 degrees.

Dried Apricot Whip
1 cup apricot pulp
1 cup sugar
1 egg white.
Beat egg white stiff, add sugar and apricot pulp. Serve alone or on sliced bananas.

PEACH COBBLER
2 cups dried peaches
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 thin slices lemon
2 tablespoons butter
Cook slowly peach, lemon and cinnamon forty-five minutes. Add sugar and pour in baking pan, add butter and while boiling hot, cover with biscuits. Dot tops of biscuits with bits of butter. Bake twenty minutes at 425 degrees. Serve hot with cream.

Biscuit for Peach Cobbler
1 1/2 cup flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt.
4 tablespoons shortening
1 tablespoon butter
2-3 cup milk.
Sift ingredients, cut in shortening add milk, handle lightly. Make into biscuits.

Raisin Pie
4 tablespoons flour
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup cold water
1 1/2 cup boiling water
2 1/2 cups seedless raisins
1 cup lemon juice.
Mix flour and sugar, add cold water to make a smooth paste, add boiling water and raisins. Cook five minutes over hot fire, stirring all the time, add lemon juice. Pour into lined tin, cover pie with pastry bake forty-five minutes at 475 degrees.

Personal and General Notes of Week From Waveland-Vicinity.

V. E. WEBER Box 134
Waveland, Miss.

The National Council of Catholic Women, Coast Division, Mrs. Edw. Carrere, presiding will hold the regular monthly meeting Friday, January 29, 8 P. M., at St. Joseph Memorial Hall, Bay St. Louis. The usual large attendance is expected.

The Parent-Teacher Association will hold their respective meeting Friday 3rd P. M. Election of officers will be held, all members are requested to attend.

The miscellaneous-bridal shower given Sunday night, in honor of Miss Ora Mae Hick at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Morere, Mrs. Sophie Herlihy hostess, proved to be one of the outstanding social events of the season.

The pretty home of Mrs. Morere was crowded to capacity by the friends of the prospective bride and groom. A number of Bay St. Louis and Gulfport friends were also in attendance. After the prospective bride looked over her numerous and costly presents, refreshments were served.

Card games started and everyone had a good time in general. Mrs. H. White won first prize in the 500 card games and Rev. M. J. Costello won first prize in the bridge games.

The "Hoodoo" will be presented to the public, Friday, February 5 in the school auditorium. Sponsored by the P. T. A. and directed by Miss Bessie Todd and has been under rehearsal for some time and the members are well versed in their various parts. The play promises to be quite an event and everyone should attend. Don't forget the date, Friday, February 5 at 8 o'clock.

Parties over for the week end included, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Keen and family; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harvey; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wrist; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Briede; Mr. and Mrs. H. Saur; Mr. and Mrs. J. Bourg; Mr. and Mrs. Enrique Reid; Dr. Halsey and party; Mrs. Henry Peters.

THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI.
To Irene Stiglett Ladner.

You are summoned to appear before the Clerk of said Court of the County of Hancock, in said State, on the 22nd day of February, A. D. 1932, to show cause in said Court why the petition of George R. Rea, Executor of the estate of Raymond Ladner, asking permission of the Court to compromise the claims of said estate against V. P. Moran and Kiln Mercantile Company should not be approved, and the said claims ordered compromised, wherein you are a defendant.

This 27th day of January A. D. 1932.
A. G. FAVRE, Clerk.
(SEAL)

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

(By Our Society Editor)

Mrs. R. N. Blaize and Misses Julia and Regina Blaize spent the weekend in New Orleans visiting friends. Friday night they heard Gieglio, the world's greatest tenor, in concert and on Saturday night the Misses Blaize attended the Athenian ball.

Others attending the beautiful Athenian ball of the Carnival season was Mrs. John A. Gross, Miss Margaret Green, Miss Genevieve Gleason, Mr. Waldo Otis, Miss Corinne Gleason. Also noted at the ball were Misses Carrie and Irwina Lorch.

Mrs. E. P. Ivy was hostess to an informal but charming bridge luncheon at her home to which Mrs. Ryland, Mrs. Durande de Ponte, Mrs. J. W. Kidd, Mrs. Betty Butler, Mrs. A. W. Staehle, Mrs. C. J. Mitchell, Mrs. A. K. Roy and Mrs. Gerard were guests. Mrs. Kidd and Mrs. Staehle captured the prizes, in order named.

Dame Rumor has it that the Rotary Club is contemplating a feature night at no very distant date.

CAMPUS GLIMPSES.

He is tall and handsome, had a winning personality, frank cut eyes in which sparkle humor and wit, has the kind of hair that the ladies like to run their fingers through, has the gift of gab and the art of selling himself and possesses a remarkable personality and is one of the most popular boys on the campus. In fact he is what the others are not. At least he thinks so himself. But in reality he is a little below normal in everything—height is about five foot five and possesses a mug like the relief man of the Stockpiles.

His bovine nature would put an army mule to shame and make a lion look up and take notice. He is inclined to be a little stout, but thinks and believes it is muscle. Has the speed of the swallow and the quickness of the oar. In reality he has the gait of the Hippo, and the quickness of the sloth. Body and mind are in tune. He is a good boxer or at least he would be if he did not block all punches with his chin and wouldn't mind pasted him one. He is inclined to music but he toots his own horn just a little too much.

He would give another man a helping hand if he was not so taken up with himself. He has much when his opponent pasted him one. He is inclined to music but he toots his own horn just a little too much.
